History

Here lies the class history of the Solon Seniors--created in 1940, ended in 1953.

Only four people in the '40 class are with us today. They are Jean Beretta, Rose Ann Markitan, Patricia Meyers, and David Thuerauf. Along with them were Raymond Croy, Elenor Gay, Wilbur Nearad, Mary Jean Slofer, and Betty Reinberg.

In 1942, we lost Betty Reinberg.

Elenor Gay left us for the year of 1943.

In 1944 Betty Brown entered our class.

Carolyn Michel and James Eastwood entered our class in 1945, and James Huber left us for a while.

In '47, Raymond Croy was not in our class, but Harlan Miller joined us later in the year.

The year of '48 brought us three new members, Donald Pejchl, Leonard Vanorny, and Joyce Slach.

Then came our terrifying freshmen year. 1949 saw a great increase in our class population. We then had 21 to begin with. Jean Beretta, Rose Ann Markitan, and Patricia Meyers returned for their tenth year in the Solon School. Also in our class were Patty Brogan, Tommy Ciha, Jim Huber, Donald Klouda, Howard Mottet (our romeo), Donald Pejchl, Joyce Slach, Rita Slaymaker, Donald Stagg, Elenor Stinocher (the shy girl), David Thuerauf, Jim Eastwood (the athlete), Harlan Miller, Raymond Croy, Delores Frasher, Delorise Young, and Leonard Vanorny. We somehow all survived initiation day that year. This was the year we had our first class party. We went roller skating, and was everybody thrilled. John Riley joined us later in the year, but we lost him a few months later.

1950's enrollment came down to eighteen. We lost Harlan Miller, Delores Frasher, and Raymond Croy, but gained John Thomas.

We lost John Thomas in '51, but gained Ann Yarbrough and Charles Cochran. We had our first class play "Just Ducky," which we enjoyed immensely practicing for. Then came our banquet we had to give the seniors. This is where our class arguments began. We used the Hawaiian theme, "Aloha Beach Frolic," and we know that the seniors enjoyed it by the way the food went down so rapidly. This was when we really began to enjoy ourselves.

Then came the fall of '52, and our senior year. We elected Jim Eastwood as president of our class and Patricia Meyers as president of the student council. The rest in the class were Victor Benyshek (a new addition), Jean Beretta, Patty Brogan, Tom Ciha, Charles Cochran, Jim Huber, Donald Klouda, Rose Ann Markitan, Howard Mottet, Donald Pejchl, Joyce Slach, Rita Slaymaker, Donald Stagg, Elenor Stinocher, David Thuerauf, Leonard Vanorny, and Ann Yarbrough.

Our first major activity was putting on our class play, "Aunt Cathie's Cat." We will never forget about all the candy and pop we had backstage. Despite all the confusion, it came off all right. We'll never forget the day we had our graduation pictures taken, all our food sales, our class arguments, our wonderful banquet that was given us, and all the other special occasions. A lot has happened during these past 13 years, both good and bad, but I am sure we will never regret a moment of our school days at good old Solon High.

Class

Will

Jim Eastwood wills his seat over by the radiator to Jerry Reyhons, so he can keep warm in the summer, because in the winter the radiator never heats. To David Beranek he wills his bookkeeping workbook, so he can compare answers in Mrs. Anderson's study hall. To Bob Jedlicka goes his number three basketball jersey. To Lois Wilson goes his ability to run up and down the stairs between classes and never get caught.

Patty Brogan wills her seat in the middle of the first row to Kay Stagg. To Phyllis Kabels goes her job as dishwasher in the kitchen. The ability to never get on the honor roll all four years of high school goes to Carol Moeller. To Jimmy O'Brien goes her bookkeeping workbook. To be the only girl in the Senior class to have a diamond goes to Arlene Worrell. To Bill Peters goes her ability to never be tardy for school. Never to get kicked out of class goes to Bobby Slaymaker.

Rita Slaymaker wishes to leave her basketball suit to Mary Ann Griffin. To Marie Mottet goes her ability to go to several dances a week. She also wills the ability to speak up and give her opinion in class to Marlene O'Brien.

Howard Mottet wills his seat, the second from the front, to Donald Urbanek, so he can sit right across from Lois Stephens. To Evelyn Reyhons goes his ability to pull straight F's in bookkeeping. The right to sleep during study period goes to Francis Steinbrech. Bob Jedlicka has his right to get good grades in government without studying. His ability to get his name in the gossip column every week goes to Bill Peters.

Jean Beretta wills her position as editor of the Spartan Scroll to David Beranek. To Dorothy Cochran she leaves her bashfulness. She wills her ability to skip school and not get caught to Lois Wilson.

Donald Klouda wills to Bob Jedlicka his bookkeeping workbook and all the grades along with it. To Francis Steinbrech goes his ability to get excused from English class for a few days and get "F" for everyday out. To David Cilek goes his ability to never get on the honor roll all four years of high school. To Ruby Cochran goes his biology book and workbook, and he hopes that she gets more out of them than he did.

Charles Cochran wills the basketball suit number 12 to Big Bill because he's coming up fast. The center spot on the team goes to Tom Stochl, because he has a red plaid freddy hat. His sweat socks, which are standing down in the north-west corner of the locker, go to Charlie Harms. All of his used ink goes to Urby so he can write better English themes. Also to Urby goes his ability to write 10-page themes for Mrs. Anderson. His ability to always be one of the first to eat goes to Spencer Brooks. His seat in the back corner of the assembly goes to Larry Dvorsky, because Mrs. Anderson thinks there's some distortion back there. His ability to keep things humming on the school bus passes to Jimmy Leonard.

Pat Meyers wills her long legs and basketball suit to either Mary Ann Griffen or Lois Wilson. Her seat by the window and the radiator goes to Jo Ann Wray, so she can watch out the window and try and get some heat out of the cold, cold radiators during study hall. To Billy Peters goes her dimples and her position as President of the Student Council goes to Jerry Reyhons.

David Thuerauf wills to Charles Harms his favorite seat in the assembly. To Frances Steinbrech goes all his old workbooks, pencil stubs, and gum wrappers, etc. To Jimmy Leonard goes his ability of getting kicked out of English class and getting "F" for everyday kicked out, for doing little or nothing. His ability of getting one of Mrs. Anderson's favorite theme topics goes to Spencer Brooks.

Rose Ann Markitan wills her job of typing the school paper to Kay Stagg. Rose Ann wills her habit of getting her hair cut about once a month, to Kathryn Cilek. Her involuntary action of quite-frequent blushing goes to Patty Steinbrech; and Jo Ann Wray inherits Rose Ann's always getting to school about a minute or two before the tardy-bell rings, especially at noon since the half-hour lunch time was adopted. To be able to drive without a license and not get caught goes to Arlene Worrell.

Joyce Slach wills to Ruby Cochran her basketball suit. Her typewriter goes to Mary Ann Griffin. She wills her position as secretary of the senior class to Donna Scalf. Also her position as president of the Pep Club to Evelyn Reyhons. To Carol Ulch goes her brown eyes. To Kathryn Cilek goes her ability to go out for solo and the day before contest to lose her voice. Her ability of always putting things off until the last minute goes to Donald Lehman.

Ann Yarbrough wills to Lois Stephens her job as art editor of the Spartan Scroll. Her senior news reporter position goes to Kay Stagg. The honorable column known as gossip is left to the literary ability of Ruby Cochran. Her gift of gab is to be divided among any three people who need it, and to Bill Peters goes her ability to define those English dictation words. Her basketball suit goes to any promising guard who gets it. She only hopes the distinction of sitting on the bench more than anyone else doesn't go with it.

Eleanor Stinocher wills her ability to have to borrow pencils most of the time to Lois Stephens. Her bashfulness goes to the Worrell twins. Her ability to go to every dance and dance every piece goes to Sandra Wray. Her ability to never have to write a theme for Mrs. Anderson goes to Ben Huber, and the position of a typist on the school paper goes to Jerry Reyhons.

Donald Pejchl wills his split vision ability to Butch Beranek, and to Jerry Reyhons his faking ability in basketball. To Francis Steinbrech his government book and poor grades. His reckless driving, he wills to Dick Wray. To Charles Harms he wills his desk, third from the front in the fourth row.

Jim Huber wills his seat in the back row to Don Lehman, so he can be farther from the teacher in study hall. His red shirt goes to Urbie, to brighten him up a bit. To Charlie Harms goes his car(if it still runs), because it is trained to get to school at 9:01 every morning.

Victor Benyshek leaves the right to use his desk in 1953-54 to Ben Huber. He wills Don Lehman the right to write themes for Mrs. Anderson---if he can choose his own topics. He'll give to whoever wants them, all his grades in government. He wills his big nose, his butch haircut, the sloppy thing, and his birthmark to anyone who wants them. He wills his ability to wiggle his ears in economics class to Bill Peters, and his extraordinary ability to never hand an assignment in on time goes to Spencer Brooks. His green "Leanin' Liz Cooper" Model A is left to Kay Stagg.

Tom Ciha wills his seat next to the control of the radiator to David Beranek, so he can let off steam whenever he wants to. He leaves all his government notes and old tests to Francis Steinbrech, because he knows he'll ask for them anyway. Donald Urbanek gets his ability to cut up in bookkeeping class, and still not get kicked out. Getting the most unusual theme topics to write six pages on during Mrs. Anderson's study hall, goes to both Dick Wray and Ben Huber, for he had enough to last both of you. All those that have pushed his car those thousand and one times, can fight over it.

Leonard Vanorny wills his ability to never get on the honor roll all four years of school to Francis Steinbrech. Also to Franny goes his ability to tear up in classes and study halls and get in return a dozen ten-page theme topics from Mrs. Anderson. Also to Franny, he wills his ability to go to dances and try to get a girl, but hasn't any luck.

Donald Stagg wills a good second-hand bookkeeping workbook to anyone who wishes to take bookkeeping in '53. To Spencer Brooks he wills his great height which he acquired in the second grade. Last but not least, he wills his desk and all other earthly possessions he may have in it to anyone who wants it.

To Mr. Bright the senior class leaves all their old misspelled dictation words and all the punctuation marks we never put in. We also leave him 19 red pencils to replace the ones he used up correcting our papers.

To Mrs. Anderson we leave all our old Bookkeeping tests and a new curve to base next years pupils on. She also receives all the used up short hand note books and typing erasers and as a special gift, some new typewriter covers to replace the ones we tore up.

To Mrs Umbdenstock we leave all the "Our Times" pamphlets so she can use them again next year. She may also have her Government books although we are saddened to think of parting with them.

The senior members of the basketball teams leave all the socks that are standing up in the corners of the locker rooms, the worn out basketball shoes and shoe strings, and all last years fouls acquired in basketball games to Mr. Lahr.

Mr. Krafka is the recipient of all the knowledge we didn't soak up during our senior year of high school. To him we also leave all of our disagreements in class meetings and our broken desks.

Prophecy

The hotel, Waldorf Astoria in New York City
Is decorated and lighted, and looks very pretty.
To night a great celebration there is going to be.
It's a reunion of the Solon Senior Class of '53. .

Past president Eastwood is the first who appears,
On vacation from the railroad for the first time in years.
The former Lois Wilson is now his little wife,
And their family of five is the pride of Jim's life.

Who is that coming in full National Guard dress?
It couldn't be Victor Benyshek, could it? Why yes!
After just ten years practice in this military game,
He has the title "Major General" preceeding his name.

Who could be arriving in that rolling junk heap,
That just came down the street with a bound and a leap?
The driver steps from his hot rod and strolls this way,
Why it's Jim Huber, Stock Car Race Champ of the U. S. A.

Next comes Tom Ciha, our Ambassador to France,
Wearing a little black mustache, his looks to enhance (?)
The reason he rose to this position so fast,
Is that he studied so hard in his high school French class.

Miss Patricia Meyers is the next guest to see,
After ten years, she's still unmarried and free.
When men propose, she just won't believe 'em.
Her motto is always "Love 'em and leave 'em."

A private helicopter has landed atop the hotel.
Whoever could be arriving in a style so swell?
A quick glance proves that the one who came,
Is that high-flying farmer, Don Klouda by name.

Two more old class members enter together.
Friends they have been through all kinds of weather.
They are Rita Slaymaker and Jean Beretta by name,
In ten years, they've climbed high the ladder of fame.

Yes, "Iowa's smartest ballroom" is now in their command.
These two are co-owners of a spot called Danceland.
Rita handles the finances and keeps books with care,
While Jean acts as a hostess and bouncer there.

Now parking his cab in front of the hotel,
Don Pejchl in his uniform really looks swell.
Those who ride in his cab have nothing to fear,
For he was just chosen safest driver of the year.

The former Joyce Slach is married now, too.
As Mrs. P. J. Springmire, she has much to do.
She left their gas station and children with Paul,
And came to New York to get away from it all.

Driving a new cadillac, another guest appears,
It's David Thuerauf, a farmer for the past ten years.
He owns every farm machine the inventors put out,
Proving there's profit in farming beyond a doubt.

The latest arrival is a registered nurse,
She's also married to Dave Lehman for better or worse.
From her years of nursing she learned lots of tricks,
Which help the ex-Patty Brogan care for her family of six.

From his farm in the rich and fertile middle west,
Comes Leonard Vanorny, now at his best.
He owns 200 acres of that fine Iowa land,
And under his care it's paid off better than planned

Look who just flew in from Washington D. C.,
It's Senator Howard Mottet, a Solon grad. of '53.
When asked about it, he had to confess,
That to his senior government he owed his success.

Once Eleanor Stinocher but not anymore,
This gal married Doc Brumwell in 1954.
Nine years of it already and she just never tires,
Of looking after hubby and all those little jet flyers.

Here's Ann Yarbrough, from radio station KBO,
As advisor to the lovelorn, she's in the know.
She can tell girls who want to get husbands, just how,
But why do you suppose she's not married by now?

There's a clatter of hoofs, who's that coming by horse?
Oh, it's Charlie Cochran, the rodeo star, of course.
He now holds quite a record, by the way,
He's bronc busting champion of the whole U. S. A.

Now here's the famed Don Stagg, private Eye,
He has the reputation of a hard-boiled tough guy.
His detecting genius has solved many crimes,
The newspapers have publicized him lots of times.

The last to enter through the enormous glass door,
Is the interior decorator from Macy's great store,
A resident of New York but still she is late,
Rose Ann Markitan can't lose that old high school trait.

Now everyone's here and the party's begun,
All nineteen old friends join in the fun.
And when the party is over, new plans have been made,
To meet, once again, after another decade.
